THE FELINE TIMES

Uni Bust Day!

The fortress of Wu-Wu-Wu Zap, famous criminal villain, is falling due to new reinforcements from the Dollhouse. The siege cannon has come with them, and is playing a very large role in the assault. On May 23, our newspaper wrote that the Dollhouse was not carrying any troops, but it secretly was! We were instructed by military officials not to tell anyone.

The weather will be sunny up until Sunday. ☀️

Wu-Wu-Wu Zap Battle

Wu-Wu-Wu Zap, famous criminal villain, is currently falling, as we said on page 1. Here are the problems that Wu-Wu-Wu Zap has with the fortress:

1. His fortress walls are crumbling.
2. Troops are getting inside his fort.
3. He is under heavy fire from the outside.
4. The bad guys are not going to help him.
5. He's running out of ammunition.

Mewnes has played a very large role in the attack, because Mewnes is super fierce. Velvet has stayed behind, because Velvet is cute and Ethan does not want Velvet to get hurt.

Wu-Wu-Wu Zap has been losing the battle, and we do not know how long it will take. Wu-Wu-Wu Zap does not like surrendering, so he will not surrender until we invade his fortress and capture him.

We are very sorry that we tricked the readers into thinking that the Dollhouse was not carrying troops! But it was an order from the government, so we had to do it.

King and Pirate are currently on the front lines, and Pirate is battling the Unicorn. King, Vice Emperor of Ethanland, is part of the assault force.

The Wu-Wu-Wu Zap fortress, now known as Zone Q, has closed. The winners of the fortress were Velvet and Chris. We do not know what their plans are to do with the fortress, but we may interview them on what they will do.

If anyone wishes to sign up, just tell Ethan L. Koenig, Vice Emperor of Ethanland, who is administering the lottery. There will be a second lottery, and whoever wins the second lottery gets the fortress, but whoever does not win gets some property.

(Only for co-op people.)
