Vacation to Grandpa Hennessy's House

In this picture, you can see Baby's coronation (mentioned at the bottom of page two) taking place on Sesame Street.

Uncle Mike's birthday and Grandpa Hennessy injuring his shoulder have drawn us to Canada. Baby's coronation has taken place on Sesame Street in the city, and also out in the Florida Room. A gigantic cake, like a castle, was part of the festivities, and you could go inside it and eat cakes from cake conveyor belts.

Mewnes is looking out of a window. Mommy allowed us to bring four animals on the trip.

Empress Emily and Emperor Blue Eyes' House is like their vacation house.

People dance on the rooftop of a house, and have a fun time.

Bunny's Bakery Doing Great

Bunny's Bakery was recently renamed "Blue Eyes and Bunny's Bakery".

Bunny and Blue Eyes' Bakery is doing great, with Blue Eyes doing most of the work. Blue Eyes earned a ton of money, and might go on to be the shop owner. They baked a ton of pastries for Baby's coronation, and customers are very happy. One customer said, "The food is super savory!" Another said, "You are the best bakery in town!"

Welland Canal Trip

Ethan, Hannah, Mommy, Daddy, and Grandpa Hennessy took a trip to the St. Catharines Museum, where they played crazy lacrosse, watched a ship called the Harvest Spirit (most likely carrying grain) go through the lock, and looked at a model for some time. We learned many new things about boats, and it seems they changed the museum somewhat. I could tell, because there were semaphore flags that had not been there before, and also a video that hadn't been there.

Baby's Coronation Taking Place

Baby's coronation is taking place on Sesame Street, and got moved to the Florida Room after they wanted to see more good things. Everybody was invited, and there was a huge castle cake (built by the best chef in Ethanland) that is described on page one. They went onto a cruise ship that sailed across the pool.

Wu-Wu-Wu only stayed for a few seconds, and then left. The ship that sailed across the pool flew the flag of cakes, Ethanland, Hannahland, and the United Council.

WU-WU-WU ZAP BROUGHT ON TRIP

Wu-Wu-Wu butted out Dog, who was supposed to be there, and got in, causing battling in Ethan's backpack. There was a disco party at night, while they were driving, that Wu-Wu-Wu totally missed. He was furious, and wanted to zap the car to bits, but Mewnes and Pounce held him back.

In this photo, he is in the jail, trying to get out while Baby's coronation festivities go on. Wu-Wu-Wu Zap is still a famous criminal villain, so you should be careful when you see him, and listen to what authorities say.
