THE FELINE TIMES

Bingo Under Attack

Creepso and the Mimic planted a bomb in the tram tracks, and it blew up. The train jolted and went off the track. It caused major traffic jams, and recently has started to pressurize its fuel, coal, gas, and the hot water inside it. We have been pumping cool water in, but the train started to move, and it's almost off the cliff! The traffic jam lasted several days, and Emperor Blue Eyes and Empress Emily are here on the scene.

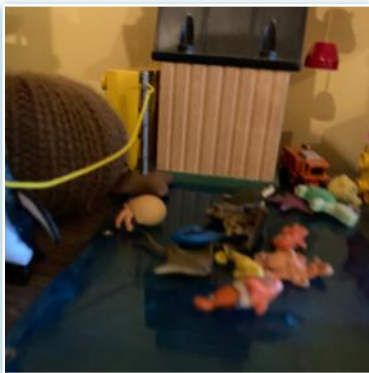

The weather will be sunny up until Sunday. ☀️

Communications Tower Damaged by Bomb

A communications tower (as the picture on the right shows) was heavily damaged by a bomb that the Mimic planted. The tower tipped over and the top of it fell into what is going to be Binkevis Hotel. No people were hurt, except the Snow Trooper that got knocked over. (He is on the good side.)

We do not have any radar, intergalactic communications, or interplanetary communications, and the internet may be faulty in Bingo due to this explosion. Meanwhile, in the Dining Room, ant troops from the planet of Bugs have landed and set up and outpost. The ants are currently at war with the scorpions.

Great Pumpkin Festival

The picture on the left is of a penguin gardener checking the pumpkin and writing notes on it. There is going to be a pumpkin competition on Sunday. Whoever wins it will get a trophy and a picture next to their pumpkin. Bingo is competing in the competition, and has made a big pumpkin.

City Being Built in Hannah's Room

There is a city being built in Hannah's room, and we think that it will have an airport. It has a train system and two buildings right now, and also train stops and an aqueduct that carries water over the city, spilling off of the edge of the dollhouse.

The city's name is Aza, and it has a border crossing. The Hannah Inn is near where we plan to build the airport.

Bingo Under Attack

Emperor Blue Eyes and Empress Emily have arrived in Bingo from the Dollhouse via Santa's sleigh; Santa and Colonel Cuteness were driving. We plan to interview Empress Emily in our next edition.

The major traffic jams in Bingo are being held up due to the train spitting oil and gas (both enflamed) onto the road. The cement is really broken, and there are several holes in it and train wheel marks. The road has been closed for several days now.
