THE FELINE TIMES

Rebellion on Island Near Bingo

Last year, a rebellion began on an island that is close to the key cities of the house. It turned out that it was led by the infamous Skelefiend. Skelefiend is a skeleton who wields an enormous sword. The enemy has based its command in a factory that has been destroyed since the battle began. Ethanlish main command is mostly in the south side of the island, and the west and east sides of the island (which Ethanland used to have a strong foothold in) have been taken over by rebels.

The escaped transports that are carrying troops from the east and west sides of the island are evacuating to Bingo City or the trading post. Things look grim for Ethanland in this fight.

Recruit for the Ethanlish Military

Bingo City is getting all decked out with lights, party flags, and banners. This is due to Daddy's birthday happening on January 12th — that's in four days! We are sure that the celebrations will not be interrupted by any attacks by Wu-Wu-Wu Zap.

The Botanic Gardens are one of the centers for the celebration. Party lights in the background, banners over the parking lot... You can just feel the festivity! Citizens of Bingo City are preparing to have a great time. The January 12th parade and feast will be exciting events to go to.

Island Population Worried

After the election of the island's government, the D.R.P. (Dinosaur Republican Party), who won the election, were not very surprised to find a rebellion on their hands. After the Financialist Teddy Bears, the Sheep Party, and a couple of others lost to the D.R.P. and the N.W.I.P. (North West Imperialist Party), the election went into a runoff. The D.R.P. won, but the reason that the red dinosaurs (who are the leaders of the party) knew that they would be attacked was because the N.W.I.P. was made up of hostile Warhammer characters. At the time, there was no definite proof that they were commanded by Skelefiend; however, many had suspicions.

The population of the island is afraid that the N.W.I.P. party (who revolted) will bring harm to the nation if they win the war.

Emperor Zurg's Army Begins March Towards Ecalo

After bombing raids, Emperor Zurg's army has decided that Ecalo is weak enough for an invasion. An army of thousands of Zurg robots has moved towards the city, threatening the capital of the United Council Nifluzer (which is the neighboring city to Ecalo) and Aca, the capital of Ethanland.
