Half Moon Empire Landings

This week, the evil Half Moon Empire made a major landing of some of its top commanders. They were met by Wu-Wu-Wu Zap and multiple other friends of his. In this picture, they are taking off in their spaceship and flying toward the vent ducts, which may possibly trigger a vent battle. There have been multiple other landings, and there are probably some unheard-of ones too.

The weather will be sunny up until Monday. ☀️

Emperor Blue Eyes Captured

On Friday, September 19, a catastrophe in the Sea of Coconuts befell Ethanland. Emperor Blue Eyes and several of his friends have been captured by the Half Moon Empire! Luckily, yesterday a massive attack was launched on the Half Moon Empire's capital ships, giving Emperor Blue Eyes and his friends a chance to escape in a small craft that made its way to Earth but blew up in the sky. Luckily, there were parachutes on board, so they dropped right outside the Thatcher Woods Pavilion.

Ethanlish craft... Err... Stolen emergency vehicles... Have come to pick them up. They will arrive by this evening.

There was a massive battle with an enemy beast aboard the small craft, but they managed to defeat it.

Megabat's Supership Rams the Doom Star

On Thursday afternoon, as the battle was being waged to allow Emperor Blue Eyes to escape in his craft, a massive explosion wracked the sky. This was due to Megabat's Super Destroyer ramming the famous Griffynlish Doom Star. Both ships have been severely damaged, and a cloud of extreme heat exists where the explosion happened. The thought-to-be-imperious Doom Star has been reduced to a flaming, cracked hulk of a supership. Griffynlish officials are worried that they won't be able to produce another Doom Star in time, due to the rebuilding of their planet.

Megabat and Arachnida

Megabat and Arachnida, leaders of the Half Moon Empire, are the masterminds of the plot to attack Earth. We believe they may try to attack other planets as well, but our intelligence suggests that they will focus on Earth.

Emperor in peril!

Construction of Bingo City is moving quite slowly, but we hope to make a breakthrough soon. The lead architect, Mrs. Goose, thinks we will be finished by the end of the year.

Please stay alert to the Half Moon Empire's landings. The Ethanlish government will issue alerts if the Half Moon Empire is in your area. The best way to react is to evacuate sneakily, because they have powerful Spider Colossuses. You will receive forms if you live on Planet Earth that will tell you what to do.
